

APPENDIX 1

Agribusiness interests vs. Family Farms, Workers, Consumers, Local and Environmental Interests in the EU: Towards a ratio in lobbying expenditures

The organisations listed in this table represent interests active on the CAP : 151 organisations representing agribusiness-related interests have declared a total of €49,2 million euro in lobbying expenditure while 40 organisations representing family farms, workers, consumers and environmental interests have declared some €12 million, producing a ratio of slightly over 4 : 1. The sample is much smaller than the total number of organisations that could be included, and these figures must anyway be understood as a first attempt to determine the scale and ratio in lobbying financial expenditures between these two categories in the framework of the political debate on CAP, not as an exhaustive list of all organisations lobbying on this crucial policy or as a reliable calculation of these organisations' actual financial lobbying costs.

This list was established by combining the list of food trade associations published by DG Enterprise (http://ec.europa.eu/enterprise/sectors/food/links/list-associations_en.htm), a list of active "food, consumer affairs and agriculture" lobby groups established by the Brussels-based consultancy European Agenda in 2008 (http://www.europeanagenda.eu/_files/booklet/EA_booklet_04_2008.pdf), the list of organisations registered in the European Transparency Register that submitted a response to the Consultation on CAP post-2013 (http://ec.europa.eu/agriculture/cap-post-2013/consultation/contributions_en.htm) and individual additions based on previous knowledge of the field with the objective of covering all interests active on the food chain. The filing of each organisation into one category or the other of the list has been decided to the best of CEO's knowledge of this organisation's position regarding the ongoing negotiations on CAP. Some organisations registered in the source lists no longer seem to be active and have not been included.

The only data modification concerns the lobbying expenditure of the European Seeds Association, whose entry in the Transparency Register (seen on May 23 2012) is 8,250,000€ - 8,500,000€. Given the wide discrepancy between this entry and other comparable ones, we have estimated that this was a typo and therefore kept a 850,000€ figure. The amount for CEPS seems high compared to similar organisations but was kept as such because the reason for this discrepancy could also be under-reporting from the others; Europabio's and Friends of Europe's declared lobbying expenditure, on the other hand, seem way too low (50000€ and 2 staff for a 15-strong office), as does COAG's.

The data compiled here, based on the European Transparency Register, only provides a very imperfect reflection of the reality of lobbying expenditure by the organisations in question. Accounting methods vary widely among registrants (except those using ALTER-EU's guidelines), there is no way to compare equivalent time periods and the general reliability of the register's data remains very poor (see <http://www.alter-eu.org/sites/default/files/Dodgy-data.pdf%20>). All declared lobbying expenditures have been rounded up to the higher end of the bandwidth for easier calculation and on the assumption that a majority of organisations tend to under-declare their lobbying expenses. The registered amounts do not necessarily represent the real expenditure on CAP lobbying because many of these are also active on other policy dossiers. In a nutshell : there is still a long way to go for this register to produce reliable data.
